Premium / Discount to NAV

Premium/discount history and NAV history data shown represents past performance and is no guarantee of future results. Market price and net asset value (NAV) of a Fund's shares will fluctuate with market conditions.

The chart on page one describes the annual tax status of the Fund's distributions. Qualified dividends are defined as dividends from shares in domestic corporations and certain qualified foreign corporations which have been held for at least a specified minimum period of time, known as a holding period. A nonqualified dividend is one that doesn't meet IRS requirements to qualify for a lower tax rate. These dividends are also known as ordinary dividends and are taxed as ordinary income. Long-term capital gains tax is a tax on profits from the sale of an asset held for more than a year. The tax rate on such a gain is lower than that of a short-term capital gain held for less than a year. Section 199A allows taxpayers to deduct 20 percent of their qualified REIT dividends. Please consult your tax advisor about the impact of qualified, non-qualified dividends, Section 199A and capital gains.

*The distribution rate calculation is based on the most current distribution rate per share of $0.20 annualized and divided by the 9/30/25 market price of $39.62. The fixed monthly amount distributed per share is subject to change at the discretion of the Fund's Board of Trustees. Sources of distributions to shareholders may include net investment income, net realized short-term capital gains, net realized long-term capital gains and return of capital. Based on current estimates, we anticipate the current distribution has been paid from net investment income and net realized long-term capital gain. The actual amounts and sources of the amounts for tax reporting purposes will depend upon the Fund's investment experience during the remainder of its fiscal year and may be subject to changes based on tax regulations. If a distribution includes anything other than net investment income, the Fund provides a Section 19(a) notice of the best estimate of its distribution sources at that time, available at www.utilityincomefund.com. These estimates may not match the final tax characterization (for the full year's distributions) contained in shareholders' 1099-DIV forms after the end of the year. Distribution payments are not guaranteed and distribution rates can vary.

The net asset value (NAV) of a closed-end fund is the market value of the underlying investments (i.e., stocks and bonds) in the Fund's portfolio, minus liabilities, divided by the total number of Fund shares outstanding. However, the Fund also has a market price; the value at which it trades on an exchange. If the market price is above the NAV the Fund is trading at a premium. If the market price is below the NAV the Fund is trading at a discount.

This fact sheet is provided for informational purposes only and is not an offer to purchase or sell shares. The Reaves Utility Income Fund is a closed-end fund, which is traded on the NYSE American.

RISKS: The Fund may have elements of risk, including the risk of loss of equity. There is no assurance that the investment process will consistently lead to successful results. An investment concentrated in sectors and industries may involve greater risk and volatility than a more diversified investment.
